Will Butler

Senior Business Development Manager

Will Butler is Senior Business Development Manager for the Detroit Regional Partnership (DRP). In this role, Butler helps attract new jobs and corporate investment by assisting domestic and global businesses looking to explore, locate, and grow in the Detroit Region. As an economic development professional, he showcases the unique assets and competitive advantages that make the Detroit Region a premier destination for new investment.

Prior to joining the DRP, Butler worked in economic development and business attraction for the Detroit Regional Chamber as well as several municipal and state-level political campaigns. He holds a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Michigan.
